

Sunlit Extension to Victorian Terrace Orchard Terrace, Glastonbury

This small extension in Glastonbury is an example of much improved living space through small measures. Bright and airy with bespoke windows and door, it creates a dining room and utility room/WC where the small yard once was, bringing light through large openings into the north-facing kitchen. New Slate floors and underfloor heating throughout the ground floor give continuity and much needed sense of open space.

Client: Private. Complete 2008.
